

The Carmen Powers Legacy Lecture Series

Inspired by Randy Pausch's "The Last Lecture," the Carmen Powers Legacy Lecture Series is a new platform to simultaneously honor retirees and enable the college to benefit from the experiences of our most accomplished faculty and staff. These lectures will be videotaped and become part of our permanent institutional history. As such, they are meant to provide the most respected members of the MCC community an opportunity to leave a meaningful, lasting message to inspire those still pursuing professional and academic journeys at the college.

Dr. Saroj Viswanathan, Dental Clinic and Marlene Goho, Faculty Association will be the honorees at the 2015 Legacy Lecture Series. She is retiring this academic year after decades of service and dedication to the College, the community it serves, and the values it represents.

Marlene Goho
Faculty Association

MCC Brighton Campus

Friday, April 24
at 12:00 Noon

Monroe A&B
followed by a reception

The Legacy Lecture Series was conceptualized by Anne Hughes of the Counseling and Transfer center. This event is supported by the Faculty Senate, Scholars' Day, and the Human Resources Department.