THE CHILDREN'S MARCH

A Film by Hudson & Houston / Teaching Tolerance / Southern Poverty Law Center

2005 Academy Award Winner – Best Documentary, Short Subject

““The Children’s March” tells the story of how the young people of Birmingham, Alabama, braved fire hoses and police dogs in 1963 and brought segregation to its knees. Their heroism complements discussions about the ability of today’s young people to be catalysts for positive social change.” (www.tolerance.org)
