Active Shooter Awareness

Overview

The Homeland Security Management Institute (HSMI) of Monroe Community College is offering a seminar entitled "Active Shooter Awareness". This two and a half hour course is intended to familiarize the participants with common police response procedures. It includes recommendations for coordinating and cooperating with local police agencies and what to expect from them during an incident. The course reviews past incidents and lessons learned.

Are you prepared? Active shooter situations are unpredictable and happen quickly. You must be prepared both mentally and physically to deal with an active shooter situation, because they evolve quickly before the arrival of law enforcement.

This course is highly recommended for security personnel, hospital personnel, faith-based organizations, businesses, school administration, local government and agencies, event planners, civic organizations, staff members assigned to any Emergency Response Team, or equivalent.

Topics covered

- Preparing for and managing an active shooter situation
- How to respond when an active shooter is present
- How to respond when law enforcement arrives on the scene
- Developing a survival mindset
- Profile of an active shooter
- Crisis and evacuation check lists
