WHATEVER IT TAKES

Internet & Cyber Security

Computer and Internet Security

Overview

The Homeland Security Management Institute (HSMI) of Monroe Community College is offering free instruction on computer and internet security. This one hour course is intended to be an entry level introduction to protecting yourself while using your computer, whether your emailing, or simply surfing the web. Learn how to protect and safeguard your computer and your personal information, so that you feel safe and secure using your computer. This new course is offered in either a one hour introductory classroom session or a four hour classroom. It is also available in an online learning format, which takes a deeper look into computer and internet risks.

About the Course

The main goal of this course is to provide participants with an overview and awareness level of computer threats, and vulnerabilities. Participants will be provided with an overall perspective on:

- Safeguarding your personal information
- Developing secure passwords and logon's
- Issues related to personal information, identity theft, data corruption, pop-ups, and viruses
- Protecting your computer, internet and network

Time Frame

This course can be instructed in a one hour overview on computer safety or a four hour in-depth look at computer and cyber security. Both the one hour and four hour courses are offered in a classroom setting. The four hour course is also available online. Both of these courses can be customized to meet your personal or business needs.

A minimum of 15 people required to schedule a training session.
