

Fall 2009 Self-Paced Online Course Announcement
HSMI 121: "HAZWOPER – Moderate Risk"

Offered by the Homeland Security Management Institute (HSMI) of MCC in partnership with Kirkwood Community College

About HSMI:

The mission of the HSMI is to provide expertise in homeland security training to public and private employees and officials. As such, HSMI develops curricula, delivers program, brokers resources, partners with agencies, and consults on issues of homeland security.

Through a network of community colleges, the HSMI provides regional and national services to safety professionals, public officials, healthcare providers, public safety managers and executives.

About this Course/Target Audience:

The "HAZWOPER – Moderate Risk" course is designed for waste site workers and those individuals needing Moderate Risk Certification. It consists of an online text, interactive exercises, web links, self-grading quizzes, and a final exam.

This course is a self-paced, open entry/open exit course, meaning students can complete the course on their time without specific due dates or interaction with fellow students. However, an instructor monitors the course and requires students to complete simple online learning activities.
