The water may be freezing and frightening, but it does not compare to the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual distress a woman feels when she has been diagnosed with this life-changing disease.

The women of Monroe Community College are taking the plunge into an icy cold pool in the middle of January. This will benefit the Breast Cancer Coalition of Rochester, New York which will receive 100% of all proceeds generated.

Together we can make a difference by donating money to help in the fight against breast cancer.

Show your support for those women who dare to take the plunge
