We are a group of strong women who juggle life while taking time to pursue our love of photography. Our common interest in photography has nurtured many friendships. We admire one another's work and find inspiration in sharing our photos. Some of us have displayed our images in past shows. Others are sharing their work for the first time. Together, we are collaborating to present this show of how each of us sees the world through our unique lens. Our personal and collective passions are reflected in the images we have chosen to exhibit.
