

Rediscovering Frederick Douglass:

“This photo of abolitionist leader, social reformer, women’s rights advocate, author, and great orator Frederick Douglass was discovered in the fall of 2015 in the Special Collections of the Rochester Public Library. The historic find was made during routine repairs of a scrapbook in the collection that was more than 100 years old” (City of Rochester).

Join Producer/Co-Author Tiana Stephens (and special guests)

for a film viewing/discussion on

WEDNESDAY, September 26, 2018

12:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m.

High Falls A (Downtown Campus)

Co-Sponsored by Black Student Union at the Downtown Campus and The African American Affinity Group (3AG)

