

Continuing the conversation: Creating an INCLUSIVE Environment with Faculty and Staff

Faculty and staff, this is a conversation to learn and discuss how to work with students who identify as LGBTQ. We don't know what we don't know. This is an opportunity for all professionals to have the discussion with Professor Bethany Gizzi. The questions and answers will help us help our students. Please join us.

Monday, December 9, 2019

12:00 p.m. - 1:00 p.m.

PRISM Multicultural Center, 1-108

Gender-Neutral
This phrase refers to a number of different concepts, all of which revolve around neutrality. It could be used to discuss gender-neutral pronouns, bathrooms or identities.

Cisgender
A person is considered to be cisgender if they identify with the sex they were assigned at birth.

Transgender
Transgender individuals are people who don't identify with the sex they were assigned at birth and instead choose to express a different gender identity.

Asexual
People who identify as asexual are not sexually attracted to either sex, though the spectrum of experiences vary from person to person.

Monroe Community College
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

Sponsored by the Diversity & Inclusion Department

