

China: Globalization and Interdependence

Thursday, November 15th in room 5-200, 11:00am

In many ways China is both the embodiment and a unique example of globalization. Professor Nayda Pares-Kane will discuss the ways in which our relationship with China reveals the complexities of an interdependent world.

Sponsored by the Diversity and Community Studies Film and Lecture Series and the AHPS department. Free and Open to the Public.