

Michael Heel

Mr. Heel holds a Master of Public Policy and Management (M.P.P.) from Harvard University, an M.A. in Political Science from the University of Rochester, and a B.A. in Government from Colby College in Waterville, MA.

Michael is currently the Assistant Director of Curriculum and Assessment at Monroe Community College (MCC). Before starting at MCC, Michael taught as a visiting professor at Rochester Institute of Technology and as an adjunct at SUNY College at Brockport. He then joined MCC as Coordinator of Curriculum and Assessment. During his time at MCC, Michael has served as independent consultant to various institutions of higher education such as SUNY Plattsburgh and North Country Community College, focusing on curriculum and assessment. He is also currently the President and a founding board member of the Assessment Network of New York.