

Students, faculty and staff are invited to attend the screening of the short film
Where Leaves Fall

Friday, April 15th at 12:00 noon

Warshof Conference Center ♦ R. Thomas Flynn Campus Center ♦ Monroe A

The film is 18 min. long, in Spanish with English subtitles. It will be followed by comments and a Q&A period by the film's screenwriter and director, Alicia Albares.

Where Leaves Fall

Eva, a devastated woman who is suffering through her daughter's premature death, receives a call she didn't expect: her mom, Ana, whom she has not seen in years, is dying.

In that cold hospital room where Ana is kept alive with machines, Eva has to face the idea of losing her mother and never have her questions answered.

But Carlos shows her that there are different ways to communicate, and death can be seen from a different point of view.

Alicia Albares

Alicia Albares was born in Madrid, Spain in July 1984. Since she was a little girl, she loved reading, and started writing her own stories at a very early age. Her tales won a lot of awards, and later cinema became her goal and passion. She majored in Communications at the Complutense University in Madrid, while working on her own projects.

She has worked in many films as third assistant director and production assistant. Because of that, although very young, she has already gained a great deal of experience in film making.

Monroe Community College
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

This event is sponsored by the Liberal Arts Division, the Global Education and Int'l Services Office, and the World Languages and Cultures Department.