

Library Faculty Newsletter

MAY 2013

On the web: <http://www.monroecc.edu/go/library>

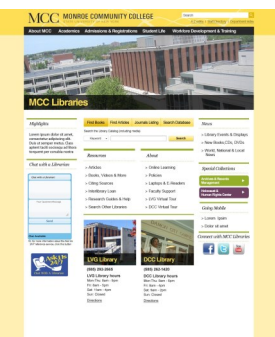

Faculty, our best wishes for a happy and relaxing summer! Be sure to let your department's liaison librarian know your library or research-related needs before you leave campus.

New Library Internet Presence

Main site: Our homepage is getting a makeover! It will have the same links and information but in a format mirroring the new web 'face' of MCC.

We will beta test the site this summer and welcome your feedback. Look for more information in the Daily Tribune and in your email!

Mobile Website The Libraries now have a mobile website (<http://mobile.monroecc.edu/#/library>)! It's a link off of MCC's mobile website and gives you access to library resources and services from your smartphone or other mobile device.

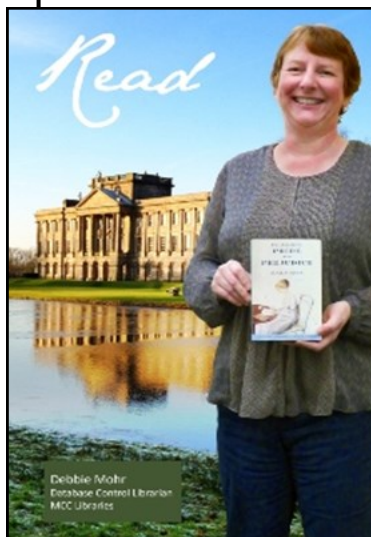

Help Us Build Our Collection!

When you go out to eat, how would you like it if the waiter brought you your dinner without any input from you? The food might taste good, but what if it's not what you want? The same can be said of the materials in MCC's libraries. Without your input, your students pretty much have to accept what we decide is right for their research needs. We do our best but we may not order the specific resources that support your course assignments.

How to Suggest Titles

1. Fill out our online order form (<http://libguides.monroecc.edu/aecontent.php?pid=54449&sid=411184>). Some faculty are already using it. Bookmark it and give it a try!
2. Contact your department's liaison librarian. Rick Squires (rsquires@monroecc.edu), Collection Development Librarian, coordinates with these librarians to ensure department needs are represented in our purchases.

Don't be shy in suggesting electronic resources too! If you've used our online catalog lately, you've probably noticed that our collection of easily-accessible ebooks is growing by leaps and bounds. Students are excited that they can access scholarly materials 24/7. So if there is an ebook title you think the libraries should have, please tell us!

*The MCC Libraries present the first in a series of READ posters, featuring our very own staff! Here is librarian Debbie Mohr sharing one of her favorite books, Pride and Prejudice.*

Debbie Mohr
Database Control Librarian
MCC Libraries

New in the Libraries

Our regularly updated new titles list includes the latest book, cd, and dvd acquisitions at both campus libraries. Titles are organized by subject and feature links to their associated catalog records so you can find out whether an item is available for check out.

Visit our new titles list at:
http://mon.sunyconnect.suny.edu:4780/mon_new_book.html

