

Terry Schwaner – Biography

EDUCATION

- Associate of Arts degree from Palomar College, San Marcos, California,
- Bachelor of Science from Southeastern Louisiana University,
- Master of Science from Auburn University,
- Ph.D. from the University of Kansas,
- 2-year post-doctoral appointment in Biochemistry at the Louisiana State University Medical Center.

EXPERIENCE

Early career:

- Research biologist (GS12) with the USAF Civil Service,
- Curator of herpetology in museums in South Australia, Tasmania and Virginia,
- Teacher of AP biology at the Alabama School of Mathematics and Science.

RECENT EXPERIENCE

- Assistant to Associate Professor of Biology at Southern Utah University, Head of the Department of Biology,
- Professor and Forrester Endowed Chair at North Georgia College and State University,
- Professor of Biology and Dean of the College of Sciences at the University of Findlay.